"My keenest interest is excited, not by what are called great questions and great cases, but by little decisions which the common run of selectors would pass by because they did not deal with the Constitution or a telephone company, yet which have in them the germ of some wider theory, and therefore of some profound interstitial change in the very tissue of the law."—OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, COLLECTED LEGAL PAPERS (1920) 269.

News of the Law School

The annual Law Day will, as usual, be the last Saturday in April, which this year falls on April 26. Alumni and friends of the School are cordially invited to attend the proceedings of the day, to visit with former classmates and with friends on the campus, and to attend the dinner at the Knights of Columbus Hall. It is hoped that there will be a large turnout to pay its respect to the Honorable Allen McReynolds of Carthage, who, in the afternoon, will be initiated as an honorary member of the Order of Coif, and to the Honorable Jacob Lashly, President of the American Bar Association, and the Honorable Frank Mann, President of the Missouri Bar Association, who will speak at the dinner.

An innovation in the formal program this year will be the appellate court argument of the Junior Case Club finalists. The case is an appeal from a declaratory judgment holding inapplicable the Missouri Sales Tax to a transaction allegedly constituting interstate commerce. Messrs. Albert Spradling of Cape Girardeau, and James McDaniel of Flint, Michigan, will represent the appellants and Messrs. Jennings Beavers of Grant City, and Jack Powell of Springfield, the appellees, in the argument at three o'clock before a court composed of judges from the Missouri appellate courts.
