

5 Best Online Project Management Tools *

Not everyone wants or needs to use an online project management tool. But if you want to experiment with one, the tools listed below might be good ones to try

Tool	URL	Features	Cost
Asana	https://asana.com	Apps for Android and iOS. Supports multiple projects, attachments, sub projects, due dates, and annotations.	Free. Unlimited Teams of up to 15 members. Unlimited projects and tasks. More members if pay for premium, but all features are the same.
Trello	http://trello.com	Apps for Android and iOS. Supports multiple projects, drag and drop of cards, team assignments, due dates, and annotations.	Trello is free to use, but Trello Gold, the company's premium plan, offers larger file attachments and some visual upgrades like emoji, stickers, and custom backgrounds.
Microsoft OneNote	http://office.microsoft.com/en-us/onenote/	Great note-taking tool, not especially good at giving you a quick, top-down view of everything that's going on at once, but you can build that yourself using the tools available such as plugins like OneTastic, or keep your files in SkyDrive (where you can get to them and your projects using the OneNote apps for iPhone, iPad, and Android)	A stand-alone version is available for $70 or it comes as part of the MS Office Suite.
Evernote	http://evernote.com	Killer note-taking tool; offers web clipper and its iOS and Android apps. Supports multiple notebooks and search capabilities make it easy to find information.	Evernote is free, but $5/mo or $45/yr will get you Evernote Premium, which offers features like offline access to your notebooks, collaboration tools, more storage space, and improved search.
Azendoo	https://en.azendoo.com/	Apps for Android and iOS. Hybrid task and project management tool, and a strong focus on teams and collaboration; plugs into other popular services, like Evernote, Google Drive, Dropbox, and Box for storage but offers some storage to support attachments, task assignments, annotations, and project tracking.	Free with premium upgrades available.

*crowdsourced from Lifehacker <http://lifehacker.com/five-best-personal-project-management-tools-1441334694>